ENTIRE STATE FLOOD-SWEEPED; DAYTON'S DEAD TOTAL 500

Scores of Ohio Communities Inundated and 80,000 Made Homeless by Raging Waters.

MILLIONS OF PROPERTY LOST

After Early Estimates From Dayton, Had Placed Number of Victims From 500 to 4,000, Governor Cox Receives Word That List Is Exaggerated.

LEBANON, O., March 26.—

More than 500 persons are dead in Dayton as a consequence of yesterday's appalling flood which swept scores of towns in Ohio and Indiana. "I have received reports from all along the line and 500 dead is a conservative estimate," declared Frank Branden, Vice President and General Manager of the Dayton, Lebanon & Cincinnati railroad, which traverses the stricken district. "It was first reported that the number of dead within the city would be 50, but later they came so fast the men quit counting."

GOVERNOR COX TOLD THAT DAYTON'S DEAD TOTAL 500

COLUMBUS, March 26.—The victims of yesterday's flood at Dayton number about 500, mostly women and children. Temporary morgues have been established where the bodies are being placed as rapidly as they are recovered. The loss of life was mainly in the poorest part of the city in the Miami river between the business district and the West Side.

This was the substance of a telephone conversation at 9:25 between Governor Cox and John A. Bell, vice chief, who stated that he had a force of 20 men assisting the rescuers and establishing communication.

Reports from small towns surrounding Plaquemine, Sidney, Middletown and Hamilton, reaching here today, tell of devastation and death in the wake of the flood. Thousands are camped in the hills without food and protection. The homeless are estimated at 80,000. The property loss will run from $20,000,000 to $50,000,000.

Reports from Cleveland are to effect that the property loss in that section was heavy, with but comparatively small loss of life.

Governor Cox estimated that 250,000 people are homeless in Ohio. Dayton, Plaquemine, Delaware, Sidney, Middletown and Tipppecanoe City were all in the path of the hydraulic, the great drive of Plaquemine is said to have gone out, flooding miles of territory. One message placed the dead in Plaquemine at 500, but this is without confirmation.

Governor Cox received a message from Bellefontaine saying the Lewis and Clark river had burst between Lake View and Russell Point and was sweeping through the Miami valley like a tidal wave. This is the vast quantity of water that seems to have inundated Plaquemine and Sidney. It seems certain that the loss of life will run high.

Orders were issued today for calling out the entire Ohio National Guard and 2,500 men were ready to entrain early today. Appeals for supplies and aid were sent to the governors of Indiana, Kentucky, Illinois, Michigan and West Virginia. Tents, blankets and food supplies are asked. The Governor is prepared to ask the Legislature for $250,000.

In Hamilton 12 are known to be dead and this number is certain to be greatly increased; 100 persons are missing and the property loss will exceed $1,000,000. In Middletown seven are known to be dead, 100 missing and half a million damage done to property.

The flood which hit Dayton was due to the breaking of the Lorain river in Shelby county, about 7 o'clock, yesterday morning. Rushing down the Miami valley it swept Plaquemine, Troy, Sidney, Carrollton, Dayton, Middletown and Hamilton. Great loss of life is certain but the exact extent is only guesswork. Ten members of the State militia were drowned while on guard. Four hundred children were in a school building at the time the levee broke. It is reported that all were drowned, but this is not confirmed. The entire city is from 10 to 20 feet under of water. People have sought hill buildings and hills.

In Columbus the entire West Side was wiped out, 15,000 or more are homeless. It is reported that the loss of life is from 6 to 200, but the high figure is probably exaggerated. Houses were seen floating down the river with people on the roofs. Fires added to the horrors. Fire-fighters spent the night in public buildings while the militia helped the police patrol the streets.

Weather Forecaster Smith warned the residents of the Muskingum valley to hike for the hills. It is reported GIRLS! YOU MUST TRY THIS! HAIR WILL LOOK BEAUTIFUL.

All You Need is a 25 Cent Bottle of "Danderine"—Hair Goes Lustrous, Fluffy and Abundant at Once. Immediate? Yes? Certain—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dirt, oil or excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

A delightful surprise awaits, particularly those who have been careless, whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, limp or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff, cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use of Danderine, when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy—a first—grow out really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.—Advertisement.

MORE OUT-DOOR LIVING

And Death Rate Will Be Lowered.
Statistics prove that the death rate is very much greater in the winter months than in summer, and that the lack of fresh air is largely responsible for this condition.

If the system becomes rundown, blood, this and watery circulation poor, no appetite, don't dose with drugs, but take our delicious cod liver and iron tonic Vinol, not a patent medicine, as everything in it is named on every package and if it does not give you a hearty appetite, enrich the blood and create strength, we will return your money; that shows our faith in Vinol.

A case has just come to our attention from Albany, N. Y. Mrs. H. Hartman says: "I was in a run-down condition for about five years until this spring, when I learned what a good tonic and strengthener Vinol is. It is certainly the best tonic I have ever used and it has done wonders for me."

Try a bottle of Vinol on your guarantee. Graham & Co., Connelville. Vinol is sold in West Side by Fred H. Harmering.—Advertisement.

ENORMOUS WASTE

Statistican Says American People Throw Away $520,000,000 a Year.

Prof. Edward R. Thorpe, a noted statistician, says that the average family wastes every family in America is rather more than $1 a week. There are 10 million families in this country, and we are, therefore, wasting 10 millions of dollars every week. $520,000,000 a year, that is the sum sufficient to practically abolish poverty in the United States. If it were saved. You, of course, have no power to stop this enormous waste except your individual share of it. If you are wasting $22 a year, why not save that sum and put it in a good bank, the First National of Connelville, for instance, where it will be safe and will increase at the rate of 4 1/2 percent interest.—Adv.

Pope Pius X. Very Weak From Illness; Grave Fears Felt for His Recovery

ROME, March 26.—According to reports, Pope Pius X. has suffered from indigestion and loss of appetite. The liquid diet which he has been taking has failed to overcome the weakness resulting from his illness. On his name day, the feast day, the feast of Saint Joseph, he was compelled to remain in bed, and for the first time since he was ordained a priest he was unable to celebrate mass on this occasion. Professor Marchisiani, the Pope's physician, said that he was afraid the Pope would not last long. In any case he will not resume his audiences for a month. The news of the assassination of the Greek monarch was withheld from the pontiff.

as the doctors were afraid of the effect of the shock during his present great depression, which is due to his weakness. The late King of Greece was for a long time friendly with the Pope, whom he knew well and had often met when the pontiff was patriarch of Venice.

"Every Little Olive Tablet Has a Movement All Its Own"

Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from indigestive bowels and liver. Dr. Edwards, a well known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil, to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that curbing of spirits, that mental buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of harmful impurities.—Advertisement.

GETS PORCUPINE.
George W. Gordon, the insurance agent and naturalist, has received from DuBois a specimen of animal that he prizes very highly and has added to his collection. It is a porcupine, something that he has endeavored to secure for some time. He says that one was reported caught in the Creek hills about a year ago, but so far as he knows this is the first one to be seen in this section for 35 years or more. Mr. Gordon says that the statement that the porcupine throws its quills as a means of defence is an old style "nature fable." At certain seasons the quills become loosened as the porcupine sheds them as another animal would shed its hair, and if a dog or other animal gets close the loosened quill may take hold with the fine little barbs on each quill.

PROSPECTS FOR A BIG LAKE TRADE IS ENCOURAGING

Coal Operators Expect to Rush Shipments When Navigation Opens; Business Dull.

Coal operators are encouraged by the report that the Northwest docks are more busy than for years at this period. With a late spring there will be a practical cleanup. A prompt start when Lake navigation opens and plenty of dock room for cargoes means much for the operators of Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia. From present prospect, demand from this source will keep shippers busy all summer and the natural requirements of the general market will take care of all tonnage for the balance of the year.

Just now the coal market is generally dull. The dealer is well supplied and the only hope from this source is a late spring which will result in bins being emptied in demand for shipping in June and July. Casualty in production is relieving demoralizing conditions at Chicago and other big centers. Cans are plentiful.

CANADA COAL PRODUCTION

Output for Year Shows Big Gain Over 1911.

The production of coal in the Dominion of Canada during the year 1912 comprising sales and shipments, colliery consumption, and coal used in manufacturing, was 14,829,957 short tons valued at $36,519,299 as against 11,323,383 tons valued at $26,467,616 in 1911, and 12,069,152 tons valued at $30,909,775 in 1910. The production exceeded all former outputs.

Nova Scotia shows an increase of nearly 8 per cent; British Columbia an increase of over 26 per cent, though not quite up to the 1910 production; Alberta an increase of about 128 per cent over 1911, and 19 per cent over 1910. The other provinces show comparatively little change.

The total production of coke in 1912 was 1,111,219 tons, valued at $5,352,520, as compared with a production of 985,551 tons valued at $4,630,410 in 1911. A considerable percentage of this was made from imported coal.

By provinces the production in 1912 was: Nova Scotia, 635,903 tons; Ontario, 270,164 tons; Alberta, 106,684 tons; British Columbia, 229,773 tons, as against a production in 1911 of: Nova Scotia, 537,554 tons; Ontario, 269,551 tons; Alberta, 36,210 tons; British Columbia, 52,327 tons.

The quantity of coke imported during the calendar year 1912 was 628,174 tons, valued at $1,702,559, as compared with imports of 751,889 tons, valued at $1,843,243 in 1911.

A SIMPLE DEVICE TO GATHER WASTE HEAT OF COKING

In the Connellsville Coke
Region and Utilize
It in the

MANUFACTURE OF ELECTRICITY

For Light and Power in the Mines and in the Cities and Towns Around the Coking Plants; the Device Looks Very Simple and It Is Well Backed.

The wastefulness of the coking methods long common to the Connellsville region has long been a matter of surprise and protest on the part of converts to the doctrine of conservation, but the trouble with all the remedies proposed is that the initial expense of their installation was not warranted by the limited resources of the depleted coal under consideration. This has been the moving objection to recovering any or all the valuable products which daily go to waste, and it has been supplemented by a lack of local market for such products.

One of the most practical proposals yet presented is that of the Pittsburgh Waste Heat Power Company, which, briefly, proposes to utilize the waste heat of the process of coking in the ordinary beehive or rectangular ovens by using it to make steam and thus developing power for the manufacture of electricity. The plans are covered by patents just issued after a series of tests and experiments. The installation of boiler units over the funnel heads of the coke ovens. These units may be installed over every oven in the plant and connected to collect an enormous amount of power for the generation of electricity for commercial use or confined to sufficient units to make steam and electricity enough to operate the plant and light the mines with absolute economy for fuel and little for a operation. The whole plan is astonishingly simple and seems entirely practical.

The company has been incorporated with George P. Felt as President; Charles E. Lenhart, Vice President; and George H. Reynolds, Secretary and Treasurer. It is capitalized at $100,000. The terms of the plan are not fully determined, especially the manner in which the device will be handled, but it is probable that it will be installed at operating plants under license, annual or perpetual, at a certain rate per unit; or, it is possible that the company will erect a central plant of its own, or lease the right to use one, with a view to producing electricity for sale to neighboring communities or manufacturing industries. Under very liberal conditions to the coke operator whose waste heat is absorbed, the company estimates that it can produce electricity at much less cost than it can be generated at a favorable situated hydroelectric plant. The saving to coke manufacturers effected by this invention will be marked. It will enable every coke plant to produce its own light and power at cost and to seem trifling. The saving here, already offered to the coke industry, is a waste heat in a power-producing plant, both in Fayette and Somerset counties, though the prospect of the company is not quite completed in all its details.

It has been estimated that with good coking coal worth from $1 to $1.50 a ton at the ovens, there is an annual loss of from $22,000,000 to $25,000,000 in the production of coke because the heat is not utilized in the production of power. It is this waste heat that the "Waste Heat Generator" will utilize to produce power that will be used in the manufacture of electric current.

The saving in fuel cost for boilers is another feature of the invention. To illustrate, there is a company in West Virginia, having a 3,000 horse power boiler plant and they use waste heat from their coke ovens, their saving in fuel for their boilers being estimated at $100,000 a year. The generators are exceedingly simple, similar to the ordinary vertical boiler, less the usual equipment of stack, firing door, grate bars, etc. The generators are mounted on trucks carrying a frame work adapted to hold them in an upright position over the funnel heads of the coke ovens. Each truck is equipped with sprockets, chain and cranks so that the generators can be quickly and easily moved from their positions to permit the charging of the ovens in the usual manner. One main steam pipe and one main feed water pipe are supported under the trucks which carry the generator, and flexible connections are made between the main pipe lines and the feed water pipe.

The generator is not an experiment. One unit at a plant at New Salem has shown in tests from June 24 to 28, 1909, inclusive that about 25 boiler horse power can be derived from each generator which, delivered to a modern condensing steam turbine plant, would provide about 60 indicated horse power per oven. The generators are now being built with about 20 per cent larger capacity. It has been estimated that heat sufficient to produce 2,000,000 horse power is now being wasted in this region.

The cost of operation is low as well as the cost of equipment. W. S. Myers, mechanical engineer, sums up the advantage of the generator in ten points. They are: No boiler house required; no stacks required; no grate bars or firing doors; no ash; no firemen; no cleaning of flues; boilers accessible for repairs; interchangeability of units; safety from explosions; no fuel required.

AT THE THEATRES.

THE SOISSON.

"SINGLE TOM'S CABIN." Ask any metropolitan theatrical manager to name the biggest money-making play produced during the last 50 years and he will unhesitatingly reply, "Stetson's Cabin Tom's Cabin." That this is true there can be no doubt. It is a well known fact that season after season, wherever the Stetson company appears, it is patronized, not only by the regular theatre-goers but by devout church members, as well. The Stetson company, which will appear at the Soisson theatre tomorrow afternoon and night, is the only one to have received unanimous approval of Harriet Beecher Stowe, the authoress of this famous and widely read book. Southland before the War is faithfully depicted by the Stetson company in the time honored drama, which never fails to amuse, please and instruct all classes and all ages. From the first to the last curtain there is just enough tears and laughter, pathos and comedy, artistically blended to produce an ideal play; a play which becomes more popular with each new season. Always unapproachable in its appliances and handling, some stage pictures, the Stetson company this season has eclipsed its previous available record in the matter of scenic, mechanical and electrical effects, costumes and vaudeville features. The same popular prices of former seasons will prevail during the forthcoming engagement.

"THE LITTLEST REBEL." Edward Pepp's four act play, in which Marshall Farum is the star, will be presented under the direction of A. H. Woods, at the Soisson theatre, Monday and Tuesday, Saturday, March 29. In "The Littlest Rebel," which is a Civil War play, the author has made a unique departure from the conventional story of the late unpleasantness. Instead of employing as a central theme the love affair of two persons, one from the North and the other from the South, he has taken for his topic the paternal love of two men, one actuated naturally and the other through sympathy. He has shown that it is not alone the love that exists in opposite sexes that will inspire to deeds of bravery, heroism and elasticity of duty, but a far stronger motive can exist when the chord of paternal affection is touched. Herbert Carr, a Southern scout, is seen as he is visiting his little motherless daughter who is living alone, hungry and ragged in a rough cabin by the mountainside after the burning of their home by Union soldiers. The father is about to be shot, but through the pleadings of his little daughter, Virginia, the commanding officer of the Union soldiers, Lieut. Col. Morrison, relents and allows the scout to escape. Later in the day a battle ensues during which the scout saves the Northern Colonel's life. They are both betrayed and taken prisoners, and brought before a court-martial. Both officers are sentenced to be shot. Morrison is a traitor and Carr is a spy. The littlest rebel, as Virginia is called, speaks General Grant and pleads with him for the life of her father and Col. Morrison, explaining the circumstances through which the escape was made. She succeeds in arousing the General's interest and sympathy, and he makes a personal investigation, as a result of which both men are finally pardoned.

"BUNTY PULLS THE STRINGS." "Bunty Pulls the Strings," which has caused more favorable comment than any comedy produced in New York for many seasons, will come to the Soisson Theatre, Tuesday, April 1. This play was first produced in London two years ago and scored an immediate success. In September New Yorkers were given an opportunity to meet Bunty, and they were as enthusiastic as their English cousins. Now a special company has been organized to play the most important cities of the country, and Connellsville is fortunate in being one of the first

WHEN COAL WAS HIGH

Samuel Pepps Tells of Prices in London Equivalent to $40.00 Per Ton. Samuel Pepps was an official in the Navy Department in the reigns of Charles II and James II, says the Potomac Journal. He was also an amazingly candid diarist. His diary, obviously never intended for publication, was written in a shorthand of Pepps' own devising. It covered the period of 1685-1689. By accident it was not destroyed and it was included in the gift of books that Pepps bequeathed to Magdalen College, Oxford. Not until early last century was the shorthand deciphered. Frequent allusions to mining matters occur in the diary. Nova Scotia figures in several of these. In an entry for May 13, 1687, we find this: "This morning comes Sir H. Cholmely to me for a taily or two; and tells me that he hears that we are by agreement to give the King of France Nova Scotia, which he did not like. I do not know the importance of it." A few months later, however, Pepps received more light, for he complains of the matter again and characterizes as shameful the giving away of Nova Scotia, which hath a river 300 miles up the country, with copper mines more than Swedenland, and Newcastle coals, the only place in America that hath coals that we know of." A river 300 miles long on the list. Although Bunty is laughable and the comedy often goes to the most convulsing extremes, yet it is a true picture of the manners and customs of the Scotch people. Gingham Hanks, the author, has handled his subject with great care, and certainly has written one of the greatest comedy successes of the day.

INDIAN CREEK COAL OPERATORS AWAIT RESULT OF PROTEST

Rate Decision Will Have an Important Bearing on Region's Development.

EASTERN OUTLET IS NECESSARY

Operators Cannot Compete With Rich Coals of Pittsburgh District and are Limited as to Market; Valley Offers Much Interest to Geologists.

The result of the special hearing which was held before the Interstate Commerce Commission at Pittsburgh last week is awaited with much interest. The action before the commission is at the instance of the Indian Creek Valley railroad, which extends from Indian Creek station on the Baltimore & Ohio to the Indian Creek valley a distance of 20 miles to Jones Mill on the Somerset and Mount Pleasant turnpike. Its purpose is to compel the Baltimore & Ohio to share with the smaller railroad a reasonable portion of the freight charges on coal shipments originating on the Indian Creek branch to be shipped to tidewater and other eastern points.

The maximum freight to tidewater from Somerset, Cambridge and Clarksburg counties, and from the Georges Creek region in Maryland, is $1.65 per gross ton. The westernmost limit of this favored zone is now at Confluence, on the Connellsville Division of the Baltimore & Ohio. The Indian Creek Valley railroad wants the chartered circle to include the coal shipments from its line.

Indian Creek flows at the foot of the western slope of Chestnut ridge. Chestnut ridge marks the extreme eastern limit of the great Pittsburgh coal field, wherein coaling culds abound. To the east of Chestnut ridge mountain practically all the coal is mined from the Lower Productive Coal field, wherein the coals are semi-bituminous rather than bituminous. They are, in consequence, a distinct product for eastern shipment, because they could not compete with the richer coals of the Pittsburgh district.

The Indian Creek valley is one of nature's great store houses. Its coal and other rich mineral deposits have hitherto been looked up for want of transportation facilities. The Indian Creek Valley railroad has penetrated northward into the very heart of this region. It couples the rich fields of more & Ohio into an arbitrary inhibition upon the Indian Creek coal products to block their way to the eastern markets.

Already a half-dozen coal operations have commenced on the Indian Creek branch in anticipation of the Interstate Commerce Commission's probable favorable action, among whom are the Mellons of Pittsburgh. To the geologist the lower Indian Creek valley presents a kaleidoscopic picture of intense and bewildering interest, owing to the enormous depth of the Youghiogheny gorge into which Indian Creek empties. The lower valley is so narrow that the channel of the Indian Creek has cut its way downward through all the coal measures into the sub-carboniferous rocks. Farther north the gorge so nearly approaches the Laurel 1800 mountain as to make the coaling measures east of the stream so small in extent as to be inconsequential in quantity, but the coal region on the west is thereby enlarged. This condition prevails as far as the Indian Head postoffice, where the coal-bearing area widens on both sides of the Indian Creek into a coal basin of several hundred square miles that reaches almost to Ligonier.

To the south of Indian Head the coal deposits so far opened are of the lowermost veins known to geologists. Nowhere else, east of the Allegheny river, in Pennsylvania, are these deposits known to exist of workable dimensions. Two of these coal seams correspond with the famous Sharon coal of Mercer county. Popularly known as the "Mercer county block" coal, whose hardness makes it available for use in iron furnaces without roasting. Both these seams are four feet thick. Then there are distinct representatives of Professor White's "Mercer coal" seven feet thick. This "Mercer coal" lies under the "Sharon limestone," but its position is higher in the measures than the Sharon coal, and its thickness is seven feet. These coals correspond with the New River group of West Virginia. The Allegheny river there are known to exist three Sharon seams, and three Mercer seams of these lower coals, but for want of sufficient exploration their full number are not known in the lower Indian Creek valley. There are known to exist at least seven seams of coal under "Red B." the correct identification of which in their proper places will require the highest expert skill.

"Red B." first comes within shipping range of the railroad near Indian Head station, and it is not high above the creek level. Here the extensive preparations for shipping operations are already in progress. The first coal deposit that might be designated as "one of the A's" is also situated above the water level at Indian Head. The surrounding hills are known to contain all the coal seams up to and including "Red E," known as the Upper Freepord bed. None of the Indian Creek coals are known as coking coals, but several of them indicate by analysis that they will make excellent by-product coke.

CREOSOTING PROCESS FOR TREATMENT OF TIES

Pittsburg Concern Has Great Plant for Purpose Where Work for Initial Lining is Done Exclusively.

The creosoting plants of the Pittsburgh Wood Preserving Company has just completed its first year in operation, which has proved thoroughly successful. This plant is located on the tracks of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, and near those of the Baltimore & Ohio, the Western Maryland, and the Pennsylvania at Broad Ford Junction. The site includes 60 acres. Beech, birch, maple, red oak, white oak and chestnut ties, red oak piling and yellow pine structural timbers have all been treated and the plant caters to the commercial business through the Pittsburgh district. Last summer extensive tests were made of actual treatment with the empty cell process, and it was found that a thorough penetration of all sap wood could be secured in the above named species by a careful treatment of the seasoned wood. All ties at this plant are seasoned in the yard from six months to over one year before treatment.

The main buildings are located at the extreme end of the property and away from the main ladder track. The loading platform is between the ladder track and the cylinder house and is four feet high, with tracks on each side spaced 14 feet, center to center. On top of this loading platform there are three 36-inch gauge tracks. Between the cylinder house and the loading platform is located a standard 60-foot track scale, arranged for weighing all charges in and out of the treating cylinders. The main ladder track is constructed of 80-pound rails throughout, and all storage tracks are three-rail, 36 inches and standard gauge trams, for handling the narrow gauge trams and locomotive. An electric hoist is used to handle treated ties in the yard.

The treating plant consists of two seven-foot cylinders, each arranged for a capacity of about 500,000 ties per year. The cylinders are set on concrete piers so that a man can walk under and around them. There are two special high pressure measuring, or working tanks, which are mounted on scales above the cylinders. Each tank will hold about 75 tons of creosote, and with the special arrangement, it is possible to weigh this heavy load within the graduations of 20 pounds on the scale beam, or if further refinement and accuracy is wanted, the scales on the loading platform can be used as a check. Thus all creosote used is weighed in and out of the cylinders, and it is possible to secure very accurate results. The cylinder house is equipped with special rotary vacuum pump, air compressor, pressure pump and standard gauge pump and circulation pump for the Card process. At one end of the building a room is partitioned off from the generator.

The boiler house is located about 125 feet from the main building, and is arranged for two 150-horsepower boilers. The 40,000-pound Porter yard locomotive is also housed here. Steam lines from the boiler house to the main building and the exhaust line are carried overhead on steel supports.

An adding plant is provided where all ties are faced to suit the plate and bored for screw spikes before treatment. On the front end of the adding machine there is an automatic timing arrangement, which drops the ties from the frame on to the table which feeds the adding machine. The train cars drop down by gravity through a spring switch to the opposite end of the machine, ready for reloading. This adding machine is driven by a 70-horse-power engine located in the same building. Adjacent to this adding machine there is located a blockcutting machine for the manufacture of blocks for shop floors and bridges.

For storing the creosote at this plant there are three very large storage tanks, sufficient for a year's supply of creosote. The creosote arrives in tank cars, and is dropped by gravity into the underground unloading tank, from which it is pumped to either of the three storage tanks.

Most of the railroad work at this plant is treated under the supervision of Dr. Herman von Schromk, and the plant is managed by Grant B. Shipley of the Pittsburgh Wood Preserving Company.

I have in my possession a prescription for nervous debility, lack of vigor, weakened memory, falling memory and lame back, brought on by excesses, unnatural drains, or the follies of youth, that has cured so many worn and nervous men right in their own homes—without any additional help or medicine—and I think every man who wishes to regain his manly power, virility, quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So I have determined to send a copy of the prescription free of charge, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope to any man who will write me for it.

This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men and I am convinced it is the surest acting combination for the cure of deficient manhood and vigor failure ever put together.
